

Alumni

Since January 2014, the ICP Alumni network welcomes both today's students and experienced graduates of the ICP. It is also open to students coming from other universities, taking part in an exchange program with the ICP.

In today's context of economical crisis and high unemployment, benefiting from the solidarity of a strong network is a key lever to obtain a first job or to get promoted.

The ICP Alumni network has the following objectives :

- Encourage contacts between experienced and recent graduates.
- Collect internship opportunities for students and potential full time assignments for young graduates
- Initiate sponsorship or coaching activities for students and young graduates.
- Put in place concrete action plans leading to full time employment

It will also allow our network to be more visible, encouraging external companies to propose carriers paths, new jobs and internship opportunities, thus improving the quality of the partnership between the ICP and its business correspondents.

At the service of students and graduates

As a collaborative platform, it has been created to be at the service of the entire Alumni community, as well as contributing to the local communities of students and universities

A complete set of services is available on this platform: phone and mail address, employment and internship offers, assistance when returning to a professional situation, calendars, information letters...

Built an international community

ICP Alumni has also the ambition to keep close contact with all the passed international students of the ICP, all over the world. ICP Alumni is a major project, owned and followed at the top level of the ICP. By rejuvenating the link between passed students and their university and developing the sense of belonging, the ICP Alumni network is becoming a major tool in improving the visibility and status of our university and promoting our 2018 Campus initiative towards all passed students.
