

Yuki and Felipe : students experiments of French courses at the ILCF Paris

Published on August 12, 2015 – Updated on May 10, 2016

The ILCF welcomes every year about 2500 students. All of them want to learn French but do they have the same goal ? What is the origin of their motivation that make them cross half the planet ?

Yuki (former Japanese student) and Felipe (student from Colombia who is still attending courses at the ILCF) have totally different backgrounds.

Meanwhile they told us both (through a short interview) how much they found the ILCF courses fitted to their needs.

They took good advantage of the lessons they took, and learnt much more about France than just the language!

These two students are a good example of the great diversity of profiles and cultures you can find in our classes: a Japanese artist whose passion is oil-paintings, and a Colombian tour guide lover of French gastronomy !

Let's discover these two testimonies (in French) :

- interview of Yuki
- interview of Felipe

Learn more

The Catholic University of Paris Celebrates #ErasmusDays 2019

Spend Summer 2019 in Paris !

Learn French in Paris, all useful info now in spanish too !